

PICASSO'S POSTSEASON

Daley dose of playoff fever hits

As the Blackhawks prepare for their first playoffs since 2002, the Picasso statue at Daley Plaza was decorated for Tuesday's playoff rally. The statue has been wearing seasonal sports attire pretty frequently in the last few years, as the Cubs and White Sox both made the playoffs last year and the Bears played the Colts in Super Bowl XLI in 2007. With the Bulls clinching a playoff spot Friday night, will a return of their gear be next?
